Dear Interested Party,

On May 31, 2017, I signed the records of decision for the Transwest Express 600 kV Direct Current Powerline and the Energy Gateway South 500 kV Powerline projects. Both decisions authorize the construction of powerlines across portions of National Forest System lands in Utah.

The Transwest Express project is a 600-kilovolt, direct-current transmission line that will begin near Sinclair, Wyoming and will extend south and west to the Marketplace Hub in Eldorado Valley near Boulder City, Nevada. Objections to the draft record of decision for the Transwest Express project were received during the 45-day objection period. These objections were resolved prior to the final record of decision being signed.

The record of decision and other documents related to the Transwest Express project are posted on the Internet at:

The Energy Gateway South project is a 500-kilovolt overhead, single-circuit, alternating-current transmission line that will begin near Medicine Bow, Wyoming, and will extend south and west to the planned Clover Substation near Mona, Utah. No objections to the draft record of decision for the Energy Gateway South project were received during the 45-day objection period.
